ask about Rachel

Rachel has been missing from the night of the fire.

Diplomacy Check DC 25 - She picked up her earnings a while ago, and hasn't been in since. (pressed, Fortubo the clerk will guess it was just over a week since she was in, and it was about 35 gold)

Rachel hasn't been in since the night of the fire - Phantos looked for her but didn't find her. He did, however, search the flat. Nothing of value was recovered.

No one of her description has been admitted recently. No Jane Does, either.

She was in about a week ago, and asked if we had heard from Perrin. I told her we hadn't, and asked where I could send a message if we did. She didn't say anything, and left in a hurry.

Hasn't seen Rachel, though there were reports of an attempted burglary at the Library. The monks scared away the thieves. The amulet is still safe; what to do with it?

Rachel is here, but under Lelani's name. The monks will deny knowledge of her presence to anyone but Kimo and Jericho (Bluff +8 vs. PC Sense Motive)

Go to Manor

Discover manor has been torched, approx. 10 days ago.

Guards at Manor

Doesn't know who did it or why, suspects it was a rival trade house trying to get an edge the old-fashioned way, if you know what I mean

Kordonn
Majordomo,
House Sunglimmer - haughty

Kordonn is directing the recovery and rebuilding efforts at the Manor.

Warns of danger, and takes them to a safe house. At the safe house, gives Regina a letter, lets her read it, and then burns it. He then gives her the box, and arranges for transportation out of the city under cover of night.

Ask Rachel about fire

Once found, Rachel can relate some of the events of that night

Rachel

Rachel remembers, "Four armed men broke into the apartment - two through the door, two through the window. They threatened to kidnap me, and then ransacked the flat. I must have fallen in a faint, because the next thing I remember was waking up at the monastery."

Lelani

"When Rachel blacked out, I took over. The men had already set the fire, and were on their way out the door. Three of them were caught in their own blaze, and the fourth ran as fast as he could. He carried a bundle of something in his arms - clothes, perhaps? I ran to the monastery as fast as I could. I knew they would take us in with no questions, and also not... be able to... see me. I gave them my name, as an added precaution."
