

The Companions of the Rising Sun

Jericho: Bastard son of an elf and a woman, cleric of ORB, member of the Shield of Revelation and Mask & Scroll. A spellcaster of some middling power, he is also known as a dilettante minstrel and womanizer.

Kimo: Elf, cousin of Jericho, Monk and Fledgling Undead Hunter. Bearer of the Breath of the Four Winds. Kimo has been suffering a crisis of faith recently, joining the Order of the Light of ORB, the first monk to do so in generations.

Perrin: Human, cousin of Jericho, Tracker and archer. Youngest of the Companions and known as an innocent soul.

These three unlikely relatives form the core of the Companions, but they are also associated with others from time to time.

Karmann: Human swordsman, drunkard, and ne'er-do-well. Possesses and occasionally uses a gnomish pistola with limited success.

Eleanor: Elven sword mistress and tracker. Limited patience, unlimited temper.

Argen: Eleanor's apparent lover, a bard and swordsman of no particular skill.

Phantos: A half-elf swordsman and rogue of some middle skill. Human mother dead, elven father owns the Rusty Wing inn, Lumniaux. Half-elven younger sister.

Nigel: A dwarven paladin seemingly pressed into service as Jericho's bodyguard.

Regina: A human trader, she has little martial skill but we believe her mistress has recently purchased the Heart of the Endless Sea.

A barge was recently sunk on the river north of Lumniaux; we believe the Heart to be on that boat. The Companions will be leading a salvage operation.

Retrieve from them the Breath and the Heart using whatever means you deem appropriate. Do not fail.

Yours in Blood

The Red Eye